- Extremely informative, learnt a lot about policy design/structure.
- Well structured, clear and easy to understand. Great resources!
- Really relevant information and challenged my thinking.
- The extent of expertise and knowledge and the way it was run.
- I liked how helpful the workbook was with all different examples and going through those as a group
- Adaptable to my work.
- The format of delivering content and links made to practical application.
- Informative, targeted.
- Content and relevance to my job.
- Well-delivered course. Relevant content.
- How policy works, why. The Policy Cycle, review.

How well did the workshop meet your expectations?	It was excellent, I have so many take aways.
	I took away a lot more than I thought I would. New to a policy role but understood the information presented.
	Yes – very well. The workshop superseded my expectations.
	Exceeded expectations.
	I thought the 'hybrid' (half virtual/half in person) didn't work. It was very hard to engage when people in the room were talking/moving and I felt I didn't get as much out of it being virtual because I couldn't engage with people sitting around me
	Useable information for my position.
	Highly.
	Yes, met my expectations.
	Well.
	Yes.
Good.
What understandings, tools and skills have you gained and what difference will these make in your practice following the workshop?	Writing to influence the audience. Structure of policy.
	Writing styles and about simple writing. Keep in mind who the information/document is for.
	Procedures – writing techniques, consultation, review.
	How to write clear and concise policy, policy framework info, good vs bad policy.
	I have learnt about how to write Policy simplistically and examples of good and bad policy
	Planning, review and implementation.
	Understand now the processes behind the 'visible' process of policy development. Will make a difference in daily work. Understand where the work that I do contributes to the organisation.
	Writing tools, policy process, consultation/review guidance.
	Templates will help.
	Clear understanding of policy process and considerations.
Good.
